Madam/Sir,

Please refer the attached letter No. L-11026/9/2012-NSAP Dated 03.09.2012 from the Director (NSAP), Ministry of Rural Development, Govt. of India regarding the judgment of Hon'ble High Court of Delhi in the above mentioned case .

The guidelines of NSAP, specifically lays down that the primary breadwinner of the family on whose death the benefits under NFBS become due shall be either male or female, which means that primary breadwinner need not necessarily be only the male member in a family.

The provisions of the guidelines of National Family Benefits Scheme (NFBS) under the National Social Assistance Programme (NSAP) should be adhered to while examining the applications under the NFBS and the same may also be brought to the notice of all the officers/officials concerned
